Market Research

Identify your growth opportunities - We systematically address critical market questions, including: Who is your customer? What adaptations do your products need? Who are your competitors? What methods of distribution are best suited for your products?

Strategic Marketing

Effectively position your products - Our framework helps you set goals, formulate strategies and develop specific marketing and sales distribution plans to reach your market growth objectives.

Marketing Deployment

Create and deliver the right message for your audience - DTGlobal can help you increase demand for your products by effectively delivering marketing initiatives through multiple media channels, including: websites, email campaigns, advertising, multimedia, and collateral production.

Event Management

Deliver memorable and inspiring experiences - From material development to booking to show delivery, our event management services ensure your conferences, trade shows, trade missions and personalized trade tours are always a success.

we make it easy for you

Sales channel auditing

Are your sales representatives or distributors costing you profits? Our structured assessment process helps you diagnose problems and develop systems to effectively market, sell, deliver, and support your products in Latin America.

Focusing on each element within your business strategy, our systematic and objective sales audit delivers:

- An assessment of your current system
- A summary of the key system issues
- An overview of potential solutions and immediate opportunities for growth
- A preliminary action plan
- A proposal to help you implement changes and get back in track
